KEEP IT GOING

English in Action

Real conversation doesn't need perfect English. It needs something to continue with.

YOUR MISSION

Don't just answer. Give the other person something to work with.

Before Class

About 5 minutes. No long homework. No script. No memorizing.

PREPARE THESE 3 LITTLE THINGS

1. Think of one everyday conversation you often have — at work, at home, in a store, online, anywhere.

2. Write ONE question you might hear in that conversation.

3. Think of ONE short answer you normally give — and one extra detail you could add.

Keywords are enough. Avoid translating a full conversation.

Look Closely

What do you think is missing?

Look at both sides. Don't study the text yet. Notice the conversation.

What changes between the two conversations? _____

Language to Know

You'll hear and use these expressions in class. You do not need to memorize them.

USE IT TO…	ENGLISH YOU CAN USE
Answer	Yes, I do. • No, I don't. • I usually… • It was good.
Add	Actually… • I really like… • Usually… • Sometimes… • One thing is…
Ask	What about you? • How about you? • Why? • How was it? • What happened?
Show interest	Really? • Oh, nice! • No way! • That sounds fun. • Interesting!
Go deeper	Tell me more. • Why? • How was it? • What happened?
Need time	Hmm… let me think. • That's a good question. • I'm not sure, but…

THE IDEA YOU'LL DISCOVER IN CLASS

ANSWER → ADD → ASK

ANSWER the question.
ADD a little more.
ASK something back.

You won't need all three every time. The goal is simple:

KEEP THE CONVERSATION MOVING.

Written Example

QUESTION

What do you usually do on weekends?

A CONVERSATION THAT STOPS

A: What do you usually do on weekends?
B: Nothing.

A CONVERSATION THAT HAS SOMEWHERE TO GO

A: What do you usually do on weekends?

B: Usually I stay home and relax. Sometimes I watch movies. What about you?

A: I usually go out with my family.

B: Oh, nice! Where do you usually go?

A: We like trying new restaurants.

B: Really? What kind of food do you like?

Notice: the English is simple. The conversation keeps moving.

Try This Before You Arrive

Complete only with keywords or short ideas:

A question I often hear: _____

My short answer: _____

One thing I could ADD: _____

One thing I could ASK back: _____

REMEMBER

Simple English is enough.
Don’t prepare a speech.
Don’t memorize sentences.
Don’t translate everything.

Come ready to listen, react, and keep it going.

Don’t just answer. Keep it going.
